Starter Female Flowline Setup

- Connect section 1 of the support bar to section 2 using the push-fit technique.

- Overlap the chest area of the vest using the Velcro, then adjust and buckle as needed.

- Adjust the chest strap until the vest fits comfortably.

- Overlap the waist area of the vest and buckle it securely.

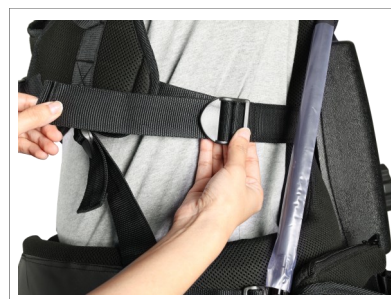

- Tighten the waist strap for a snug fit.

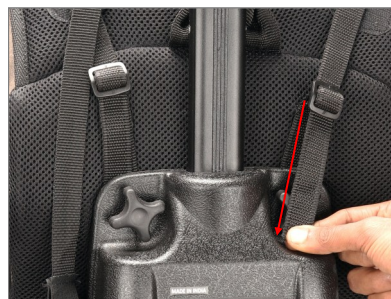

- Pull the chest strap to fit the vest comfortably across the chest, and adjust the side support rods, securing them with the buckle for a snug and stable fit.

NOTE: Side support rods allow a comfortable fit for all body types.

- Pull the back strap down to ensure proper shoulder fitting.

- Loosen the camera hook knob, attach the camera, and then tighten to prevent slipping.

- Attach the vest safety hook to the camera for additional security.

- Adjust the tension knob at the back of the body support as needed.

NOTE: Turn the knob to change the spring tension and balance the load on the suspension rope.
